Brave Butler Anderson Sick at Hernando -The Ward Committees and the Howards Thinned by Disease-Organization of Telegraphers-Contributions from All Sections of the Country,

The reports from the books of the board of alth for the past twenty-four hours tell a ad, sad story. In place of an abatement of the disease, as was expected when the desertion of the city was so nearly completed, we have a steady increase in both numbers of new cases and deaths; and from the reports we hear from visitors to-night, the end is not yet. Men, women and children, white and olored, are falling sick on every hand and in every quarter, the extreme boundaries of the city, and even in the districts beyond the thickly-settled suburbs, every home is sending up lists of those who had fancied themselves safe and secure from the ravages of the disease, having been seized with the malady and appealing for medical attention and nurses. Whole families continue to be stricken down nearly in the same moment, as will be seen by reference to the of new cases printed below, while the death rate contains names of those whose parents or children had preceded them only a day or two before. Entire families are almost buried in one grave. Again parents have been hurried to burial leaving helpless children without a protecto -St. Louis has contributed five thousand and to be cared for by charitable inne hundred and thirty-six dollars for yellow-ever sufferers. Stitutions. The latter has been of requent occurrence. Visitors of the sick, who have become in a certain degree hardened to the scenes of misery and destitution they are hourly witnesses of, all recall some event of the day that is more soul-harrowing than anything they had ever witnessed before. While we print the official reports of the sick and dead, it is certain that all is not told. There are daily occurrences

A FAIR WARNING TO MEMPHIS. EDITORS APPEAL-We, the poor class of Memphis, are well aware of the fact that the government has sent provisions for us, and we can't help the distress of the city. desire to make an honest living, and if something is not done for u we will take the law in our own hands. We can't starve, and don't intend to as long as there is anything to eat in Memphis. If we could get employ-ment, we wouldn't ask it of you. Give us her up side down, if possible.

IRISH AND NEGROES. A DAY OF FASTING AND PRAYER. EDITORS APPEAL-I respectfully call the Mayard Alexander, colored, 23 years 186 attention of all the ministers and people of God, of this city, to the fact that the churches of New Orleans agree to observe Thursday, the twenty-ninth instant, as a day of fasting and prayer to God for the relief of the stricken cities from the yellow-fever, and I merely suggest that, though we may not meet in our houses of worship, we can at least join in the act of worship and meet at the throne of the heavenly grace. A MINISTER OF CHRIST. DUNCAN K. M'REA SETS HIMSELF RIGHT. EDITORS APPEAL-I telegraphed you last night that I had been misrepresented by the ing held for the relief of the vellow-fever snfferers. I send you a correct version of what I did say. My object was to secure the best and most practical method of contribution, and at the same time to put the people on their guard against sensational appeals, through which charity might be misdirected. doubt not all intelligent and honest men will justify my action when properly represented. I want you to place me right.

D. K. M'RAE. CHICAGO, August 24, 1878. WHAT HE DID SAY. Henry Livingstone, 11 years, 168 Poplar; To the Editor of the Chicago Times: CHICAGO, August 23.—The reporters of the morning papers, your own among the others, report me as saying at the meeting held last night to "aid the stricken sufferers, that at present I did not think there was need for immediate succor." This is an entire misunderstaning of my remarks. I recognized the great destitution in the stricken regions, and the pressing need for immediate succor. But as to the form the contribution should take, I suggested that a money contribution was the least needed and the least useful. I stated that from my observation in Memphis, in the epidemic of 1873, there would be panicky appeals from unauthentic sources, and it would be well to receive applications only from authentic or efficient sources. Instancing Memphis, I stated that by the unstinted bounty of the north in 1873, much more money came in than was needed, and the Howard association found itself at the close with a large excess on hand, about the disposition of which there was much discussion; that I had seen but a few days since that the Howards had thirty-five thousand dollars on hand, and the Masons ten thousand dollars, and allowing the per diem expenditure of the former to be one thousand iollars and the latter three hundred dollars. here would be sufficient for some weeks. I recommended, therefore, that the money part should be the least of Chicago's contri-butions and in this connection I put in a word for the physicians of Memphis. I said by reason of their profession they were called t bear most of the labor, privation, and peril, and heretofore without compensation, while they were especial losers by the fact of the epidemic; that this was imposing upon them an undue proportion of self-sacrifice, and I recommended that there should be some direction in the application of the money contributed toward compensation to the profession who, many of them, were poor. The main contribution I recommended to be: 1. Of food for the indigent, who were out f employment, as flour, meal, meat, sugar and coffee

2. Of food and medicine for the sick, as rice, crackers, lemons, mustard, tea, beef tea, brandy, and champagne wine, all of which are lavishly used as remedial agents.

3. Of underclothing for the sick poor, and clothing for those whose clothing is destroyed 4. And stating to the meeting that the disease had yet a career to run, and would take on larger proportions, and the need for succor would be continuous, I recommended not to lump the contribution, but to send it in drs. Lay and son and H. Strehl convalescing. installments, at such intervals as might be District No. 5—M'Callum and Holt, visi- desired by the officials, with whom there should be communication. I desire to correst the error inte which the reporters fell, on my own account, because I don't want to appear to have been endeavor-ing to stifle a charity which I intended to Hon. John L. T. Sneed, Knoxville, $25; aid, the sufferers being my own people, with whom I have heretofore shared a similar ordeal. Very respectfully, D. K. M'RAE. THE WORKING COMMITTEE'S RULES AND
